Share pictures and videos with friends and family

July 23rd, 2010 -LoiLo Inc (Headquarters located in Kanagawa, Japan) have released their free update for Super LoiLoScope/LoiLoTouch today.

With new features like, uploading pictures and videos to Facebook, tweeting uploaded videos on Twitter, and sending private, password protected videos through e-mail, Super LoiLoScope/LoiLoTouch have been reborn in to a communication tool to share your pictures and videos from your PC.

New Features for Super LoiLoScope 1.8.2

-Communication Features-

-Upload pictures and videos on Facebook to share with your friends

You can now upload pictures and videos to Facebook, all at once. You can even share videos from events that you have attended with ease.

<Features only available from LoiLo: Upload without worrying about the upload limit>

- When uploaded more than 200 photos, the software automatically creates a new album for your photos.
- Video files that are over the limit of 1G or 20 min per file, will automatically be split and then uploaded.

You can also use the capture tool to cut out pictures from you videos and create a photo album.

-Place passwords on your videos and send private videos through e-mail

You can upload videos with a password, and share the link with friends and family.

Using the Vimeo service, you can upload high quality videos, and protect them with a password. Fill out the mailing form within the software, and send the videos to your friends a family with a personalized message. The password you have set will be listed in the message, and the recipients will be able to enjoy the private video that you sent them without having to register.

-Public Communication Features-

-Automatically share videos uploaded to YouTube on Twitter and Facebook.

A feature to automatically Tweet the link of your video on Twitter and/or post the link on Facebook after uploading the video to Youtube has been added to the software.

<Features only available from LoiLo: Share high quality videos with everyone>

- You can remember your Twitter and Facebook login information, and decide what you want to share.

-Improved Media Browser, and improved file management-

-Mouse-over preview, file deletion, and direct output from the media browser

-Mouse-over preview

Mouse-over the video, music, or picture file you want to preview in the media browser or desktop.

-Delete Files

You can delete files from the media browser by using the check boxes on the thumbnails.
